

"All clergy and their flocks would be wise to read this thoughtful guide and learn from the scenario posed—and act to prepare and make their community more resilient. When, not if, the next disaster strikes your community, will you be prepared to lead?"

Peter B. Gudaitis, Executive Director and CEO, New York Disaster Interfaith Services

A READY HOPE

Effective Disaster Ministry for Congregations

"As Christians, our mission is not merely to dispense charity to those in need, like the Good Samaritan on the Jericho road, but to remake the road itself and fashion a just, civil society—what Dr. King famously called 'the beloved community.' Herein we are offered a practical and accessible guide to preparing to serve and rebuild."

Robert W. Radtke, President, Episcopal Relief & Development

"Told entirely in case study format, Kathryn Haueisen and Carol Flores's A Ready Hope is a wonderful contribution to the field of practical ministry. This is a book to read before you need it and one to have quickly available when disaster strikes. Tips for volunteers and up-to-date descriptions of the various disaster relief organizations make this a book for both pastors and laity."

Jill Hudson, Coordinator, Governing Body Relations, Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.)
and author of Congregational Trauma

KATHRYN M. HAUZEISEN is a pastor in the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America and editor of 40-Day Journey with Kathleen Norris and God in the Raging Waters by Bishop Paul Blom. She is currently writing and coaching congregations doing capital campaigns.

CAROL H. FLORES is on staff with the Lutheran Social Services of the South Disaster Response team. Her current focuses are long-term recovery work in the Houston area following hurricane Ike and coaching congregations on disaster preparedness and response issues.
