

Field education is where those learning knowledge of the church's teachings reencounter the love of the church's people that first sent them to seminary. The result, we hope, is divine wisdom. This guide to field education makes that result much more likely. I rejoice for it.

—Jason Byassee, contributing editor to The Christian Century and author of The Gifts of the Small Church

WELCOME TO THEOLOGICAL FIELD EDUCATION!

Ministry in today's world is no longer business as usual. This book, written by seasoned leaders in theological field education, brings new perspective to the formation of students for ministry and offers fresh ideas that will challenge and renew the thinking of students, mentors, and field educators alike.

—Gwen A. Ingram, Director of Field Education and Ministry Formation, Fuller Theological Seminary

This book will transform your ministerial practice whether you are a student, novice, or seasoned veteran. The strength of this book is the diversity of viewpoints woven together by a common commitment to reflecting on how God calls forth creativity and excellence in ministry through collaborative intentionality. The authors speak from lived experience, dishing up practical case studies and personal examples that make their insights and tools for understanding ministry leap off the pages.

—The Rev. Dr. William M. Kondrath, William Lawrence Professor of Pastoral Theology and Director of Theological Field Education, Episcopal Divinity School, Cambridge, and author of God's Tapestry: Understanding and Celebrating Diversity

MATTHEW FLODING is Director of Formation for Ministry and Associate Professor of Christian Ministry at Western Theological Seminary in Holland, Michigan. He has previously served as pastor and college chaplain and is a minister of Word and sacrament in the Reformed Church in America. He has also worked with congregations and theological schools in the U.S. and Canada to enhance field education experiences. He currently serves as chair of the Association for Theological Field Education.

ISBN 978-1-56699-407-1

5 1800

ALBAN

www.alban.org

FLODING

WELCOME TO THEOLOGICAL FIELD EDUCATION!

WELCOME TO THEOLOGICAL FIELD

Education

MATTHEW FLODING, EDITOR
✧ FOREWORD BY DUDLEY C. ROSE ✧